5. Demonstrate an understanding of the range of ethical and methodological issues associated with researching with and for children and young people.

6. Demonstrate an ability to select and employ ethically appropriate and methodologically robust research strategies and approaches to investigate a topic relevant to the study of childhood and early years.

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

Our learning and teaching approaches are designed to engage, challenge and motivate our students to achieve their potential through a combination of directed and independent study. Using an enabling and collaborative approach we foster collaborative learning to build on students’ existing knowledge and skills. Students on this programme will be engaged in either full time or part-time distance learning. Our approach to teaching and learning reflects the challenges faced by this diverse body of students and aims for flexibility and responsiveness to student needs. Our programme considers the load, timing and conduct of assessment and the impact of assessment on students. Both individually and collectively staff involved in teaching and learning on the course help to construct an environment for students that is supportive and engaging via access to online discussion boards and distance learning support.

Our learning outcomes extend student learning throughout the course and our curriculum is designed to enable students to identify clear pathways based on their own interests and career aspirations.

The programme seeks to provide:

- An academic community of practice which nurtures enquiry and critical thinking based on the values of an academic collaborative community;
● An active learning environment, involving academics and professionals from a range of disciplines, academic institutions and professional settings;

● A learning climate that supports and credits different learning styles supporting students who may be entering postgraduate study through non-traditional routes.

The programme approach to learning and teaching is informed by the following:

● A commitment to helping students achieve sophistication by developing their own area of specialism in the study of Childhood or Early Years. This takes place through the twin-pathway approach outlined above as well as through the range of elective modules on offer. These modules will provide students with a firm grounding to develop and explore lines of enquiry in the form of a 60 credit dissertation.

● A commitment to the promotion of personal and professional development within which individual’s critical and contextual understanding as well as reflections upon professional skills.

● A commitment to making conscious and explicit the research informed teaching undertaken by all staff contributing to the programme.

● A commitment to employability issues through reinforcing and exploring the links between research and professional practice.

● A commitment to exposing students to up-to-date national and international research and practice in childhood and early years in a range of cultural educational settings.

Learning and Teaching Activities

The programme will develop communities of practice through distance teaching and learning. For distance learners, our work with the Distance Learning Unit (DLU) will ensure that course materials are presented appropriately and that students are actively engaged in online learning through the creation of online communities, which are actively supported by academic staff.

Each student will be allocated a personal tutor who will be able to support them in their academic work throughout the modules through structured and responsive coaching tutorials.

All modules will be delivered and facilitated by research active staff who will be able scaffold links between research and practice and thereby help students to construct their own lines of enquiry and knowledge through the undertaking of a dissertation.

For the dissertation, each student will be allocated an appropriate supervisor who will guide the student in drawing up their research questions and developing and investigating a negotiated line of enquiry in order to become a sophisticated independent researcher. The dissertation will also act as a Learning Pathway for those students interested in doctoral studies.

Use of the Virtual Learning Environment

For all students, the VLE (MyBeckett) will be used in the following ways:

● As a repository for learning materials and resources;
● As a forum for discussions;
● As a means of feedback and formal assessment;
● As a site of interactive learning;
● As a site of community practice.

Use of Blended Learning

This course is validated for distance learning. Through the involvement of the DLU, we will ensure distance learners have a comparable experience to face-to-face learners through utilising the VLE (MyBeckett) as both a repository for materials and as a site of practice.

Assessment Balance and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities

The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and typical option module choices undertaken by students on the course. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director but applicants should note that the specific option choices students make may influence both assessment and workload balance.

A standard module equates to 200 notional learning hours, which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, any embedded placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than one component of assessment.

Assessment

On this course students will be assessed predominantly by coursework with some presentations. There is a major independent study module which will require the production of a dissertation of 12-15 thousand words.

Learning Support

If you have a question or a problem relating to your course, your Course Administrator is there to help you. Course Administrators work closely with academic staff and can make referrals to teaching staff or to specialist professional services as appropriate. They can give you a confirmation of attendance letter, and a transcript. You may also like to contact your Course Rep or the Students’ Union Advice team for additional support with course-related questions.

If you have any questions about life at our University in general, call into or contact the Student Advice Hub on either campus. This team, consisting of recent graduates and permanent staff, are available to support you throughout your time here. They will make sure you have access to and are aware of the support, specialist services, and opportunities our University provides. There is a Student Advice Hub on the ground floor of the Rose Bowl at City Campus and one in Campus Central at Headingley. You can also find the team in the Gateway in the Leslie Silver Building at City Campus. Email enquiries may be directed to studentadvicehub@leedsbeckett.ac.uk.

Within MyBeckett you will see two tabs (Support and Opportunities) where you can find online information and resources for yourselves. The Support tab gives you access to details of services available to give you academic and personal support. These include Library Services, the Students’ Union, Money advice, Disability advice and support, Wellbeing, International Student Services and Accommodation. There is also an A-Z of Support Services, and access to online appointments/registration.

The Opportunities tab is the place to explore the options you have for jobs, work placements, volunteering, and a wide range of other opportunities. For example, you can find out here how to get help with your CV, prepare for an interview, get a part-time job or voluntary role, take part in an international project, or join societies closer to home.
