Course Overview

Aims

The aims of the programme are:

- to support students in gaining a critical understanding of the rationale for spatial planning, including considerations of effectiveness, diversity and difference, and community engagement.
- to enable intellectual development through appropriate research and enquiry focused as appropriate on areas of specialism.
- to equip students to engage in creative and innovative intervention in spaces and places using appropriate techniques, knowledge and skills.
- to enable students to explore and interrogate concepts within spatial planning, in particular the objectives of integration and synergy between closely related policy fields.
- to develop independent learning habits, promoting a commitment to lifelong learning for planning practitioners, especially through a student-centred approach to study.
- to encourage and support students as reflective practitioners, including encouragement of self-awareness and the assumption of an ethical standpoint to engagement in planning practice.

Course Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Critically evaluate and assess the social, economic and political nature of the town and regional planning environment;
2. Demonstrate a critical awareness of the challenges of planned interventions at a variety of spatial scales.
3. Apply skills and knowledge in developing creative responses to problems and opportunities in planning

4. Demonstrate critical awareness and appreciation of the diversity of interests that play a role in developing, designing and managing the environment
5. Demonstrate ability to critically evaluate a specialist area of town and regional planning that may include themes of heritage, sustainability, community engagement or environmental protection

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

All modules except Research Methods and Dissertation operate normally on the basis of weekly classes which combine keynote lectures by staff or visiting specialists with small or whole group teaching and learning. Some timetabled sessions may alternatively require students to undertake directed research tasks or directed reading. Workshops and visits are also included, drawing on the expertise of practitioners or specialists, and where suitable regional practitioners act as clients for group projects. A European Field Study visit provides the key vehicle for comparative study of planning practice, and for understanding spatial planning in contrasting socio/economic and political/institutional circumstances.

The Research Methods module is managed both by lectures and workshop discussion or tasks to develop knowledge and skills in methodologies. Dissertation is managed through individual tutorials supplemented by group meetings to discuss shared issues.

The course team expects students to continue their learning outside timetabled sessions, both individually and where appropriate in mixed groups. Students are expected to undertake background reading each week both to enhance knowledge and critical awareness and to inform class discussion. The move to increasing levels of student independence is progressive through the course with students expected to demonstrate a substantial degree of initiative and self-reliance in Dissertation.

Learning Support

If you have a question or a problem relating to your course, your Course Administrator is there to help you. Course Administrators work closely with academic staff and can make referrals to teaching staff or to specialist professional services as appropriate. They can give you a confirmation of attendance letter, and a transcript. You may also like to contact your Course Rep or the Students' Union Advice team for additional support with course-related questions.

If you have any questions about life at our University in general, call into or contact the Student Hub on either campus to speak to our Student Experience Team. This team, consisting of recent graduates and permanent staff, are available to support you throughout your time here. They will make sure you have access to and are aware of the support, specialist services, and opportunities our University provides. There is a Student Hub on the ground floor of the Rose Bowl at City Campus and one in Campus Central at Headingley. You can also find the team in the Gateway in the Leslie Silver Building at City Campus. Email enquiries may be directed to studentexperience@leedsbeckett.ac.uk.

Within MyBeckett you will see two tabs (Support and Opportunities) where you can find online information and resources for yourselves. The Support tab gives you access to details of services available to give you academic and personal support. These include Library Services, the Students' Union, Money advice, Disability advice and support, Wellbeing, International Student Services and Accommodation. There is also an A-Z of Support Services, and access to online appointments/registration.

The Opportunities tab is the place to explore the options you have for jobs, work placements, volunteering, and a wide range of other opportunities. For example, you can find out here how to get help with your CV, prepare for an interview, get a part-time job or voluntary role, take part in an international project, or join societies closer to home.
